

Standard Abbreviations and Citation Format for Hegel Issue of C&H and the re.press Book of the Issue

Style Guidelines

1. The preferred format is Microsoft Word, however, other formats are acceptable as well. We prefer that you apply little or no formatting to your paper as it will be reformatted by the layout editor—just use the essentials: italic, bold, underlining, heading size etc..
2. In general the Cosmos and History house style that is based on AGPS Style Manual which is a form of the Oxford System. See below for details. An output style file for the referencing computer program ‘Endnote’ is available from Paul Ashton (paul.ashton@vu.edu.au or from the C&H website). Authors should use the footnoting facility in Microsoft Word, and are advised to use the footnoting program Endnote.
3. As this issue will be compiled into a book we ask you to use first Oxford spellings from the standard British English Dictionary. Please note that first Oxford spelling uses a ‘z’ and NOT and ‘s’ as is commonly believed to be the case. Also of note: we use the ‘our’ word ending and not ‘or’, e.g. ‘labour’ and ‘harbour’.
4. Authors must also use footnotes. However, for frequently used texts please use Harvard style in-text citations, e.g. multiple citations of Hegel’s book the Phenomenology of Spirit should be rendered in-text as (PS ¶65), or the Encyclopaedia Logic (EL §15). However details shall be specified in a footnote to the first reference even if you are using standard editions and abbreviations. Additionally please provide a reference list of cited works at the end of the document.
5. Also note the use of single quotation marks ‘ ’ for quotes, and double marks “ ” for quotes inside quotes.
6. Authors should supply a bibliography at the end of the paper in addition to the footnotes.

Special Notes on the Citation of Hegel

If at all possible please refer to the English editions of Hegel's work where available in addition to any citations that may be taken from languages other than English. When a German edition is cited it should follow the English citation if one is given, e.g. for example (SL 47/WL I 31).

Hegel's works are cited by either page, section (§) or paragraph (§§) number; Hegel's remarks (Anmerkungen) to his sections are cited by an accompanying 'R' (e.g. EL §140 R); Hegel's additions (Zusätze) with an 'A' (e.g. EN §140 A). When a citation is made of additions, remarks and sections at the same time they will be separated with a comma. For example (EL §140, R, A) would refer to a citation of the section, its remark and the addition. Where there are multiple additions to a single section a number will be placed after the 'A' (e.g. EL §136 A2).
